I have watched anime since the 90s and Toonami. Then my friends at the lunch table in middle school got me more into them. I have watched many over the years. I love watching them as learning about so many stories and possibilities gives me a sense of direction and joy.

The ratings are from years ago so they will be changed/updated in most cases. If I have not rated something I will if I have time. It has been a while since I have watched some of them since I tend to never rewatch anything (except a select few).

Feel free to add me or send messages. I am friendly but VERY busy and am currently training to be a tax preparer so my responses may take awhile or be sporadic.

I have a pet Sulcata Tortoise named Votum and a Cat named Yin.

I have 2 brothers and 2 sisters of which I am the oldest.

My one and only magnum opus is the story I have been writing for over 15 years and I can never stop improving and learning to make it the best it can be. I am a perfectionist with it and all I am/do goes into it. I also write so the people I have held dear are never forgotten.

I have a gardening website in the works that covers every aspect including a section that covers every nutrient by every atomic element that is backed by cited research papers. I hope to develop the website into a collection of interlinked websites on different topics based on a sorting method (categorization) I derived that covers all aspects of human knowledge.

I enjoy (In no particular order):

Mountain climbing, spelunking, fishing, swimming, hunting, anime, movies, modding games for PC as well as some select console games, website design, writing, poetry, video games, history, mythology, science, quantum physics, astronomy, hiking, country areas in the middle of nowhere, giving tours, getting drunk and wandering downtown in cities, cooking, chemistry, gardening, the periodic table, particle physics, metaphysics, the paranormal, animals, marine biology, philosophy, romanticism and the woman I am with when in a relationship, tsundere, whispering sweet nothings when in a relationship, comedy, B-movies, South Park, Scifi shows, Stargate SG-1, Scifi Miniseries, mysteries and the unknown, older Startrek, All kinds of music (as long as I like it the genre does not matter) but I have a special place for classic rock, dreaming, building and making things (metalworking, carpentry, electronics, electrical, etc.), friends, family, love, hate (that does not harm others), stories, Terry Brooks books (all of them), Stephen King books, Wuxia and Xianxia novels, PC building (amateur), cute things, bad ass things, remembering, my machete, tools, helping others, guns and explosives, martial arts, nature, the supernatural, botany, doing stuff when high, physical labor when I am not in pain, spicy food, sushi, Chinese takeout food, blocks of cheese, pepperoni sticks, when I was a caregiver for my grandmother, things that hold memories, festivals, good people even if they are in-your-face or quiet (basically anyone not excessively loud I get along with), spending time with people I care about, picturesque views out in nature, the beach, seeing others enjoy themselves, being a shoulder to cry on or to vent to, running my mouth about past experiences without giving details, keeping secrets for myself and others, singing, archaeology, dissecting and organizing massive amounts of information, strawberry lemonade, yellow, gold, silver, black, white, blue-green, the mod Caveman2Cosmos for Civ IV, Pokemon, art, my hat, monogamy when in a relationship, things that symbolize eternity..... and maybe more lol.

I might add more when I get the time and think some more.

Live and let live and when that is not possible, fight to the bitter end.
